Why Being a Chamber Member Matters

According to a research study by The Shapiro Group, Inc. and Market Street Services, when consumers know that a small business is a member of their local Chamber, they're 44% more likely to think favorable of it and 63% more likely to purchase goods or services from the company in the future.

- If a company shows that it is highly involved in its local chamber (e.g., sits on the Chamber board), consumers are 12 percent more likely to think that its products stack up better against its competition.
- When a consumer thinks a company's products stack up better against the competition because the company is involved in its local Chamber, it is because he or she believes that company is trustworthy, involved in the community and is an industry leader.

- When consumers know a restaurant franchise is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, they are 40 percent more likely to eat at that franchise in the next few months.
- When consumers know that an insurance company is a member of the chamber of commerce, they are 43 percent more likely to consider buying insurance from it.
